

90 Days Since

Sanford Heisler Sharp's Newsletter

In the last 90 days, the firm's work ethic, creativity, depth, and care were on full display in our trial against Robert De Niro and his production company, Canal Productions.

Our client, Graham Chase Robinson, who had served as Robert De Niro's executive assistant and Vice President of Production and Finance, received the jury verdict she had been waiting for and deserved: a verdict against Canal Productions for gender discrimination and retaliation, and a verdict completely exonerating her from De Niro's claims against her. After eight days of trial in New York federal court, on November 9, 2023, a jury of four women and three men awarded Ms. Robinson over 1.2 million dollars and complete vindication.

The substantial international media attention the trial received put others in power on notice: Sanford Heisler Sharp will hold powerful people, institutions, and companies accountable when they abuse their power, trust, and position.

In the coming months, Sanford Heisler Sharp will be celebrating its 20th anniversary. We are looking forward to showcasing the firm's excellence over the past 20 years, its impact, and its future aims in our forthcoming newsletters and on our website.

We will be back in January with news about our other activities in the past 90 days. We wish you a safe and restorative holiday season, and we look forward to building on our efforts towards justice in 2024!

- David Sanford, Co-Founder and Chairman
